

Charles Schwab Pro- am day experience

Wednesday

Kaisone chanthapanya with
Jordan Speith

To start off, this was a very fun experience and the professional golfers were nice and golfers, such as Jordan Speith, answered some questions after his round.

V- Jordan, what do you do when you hit a bad shot, what goes through your mind?

Jordan- It really depends on who's fault it was.

Normally, getting mad is fine, but getting negative isn't. I learned that from playing with Tiger. He gets mad but never negative, it's ok to get upset if you want to that the fire, then I like to re-picture it as I hit a good shot there and look at what I did wrong, figure it out, and move on and do it better the next time.

Personal caddie experience

Wednesday morning I had the chance to caddie for the Charles Schwab VP. She was amazing to talk to and was very kind. Her name is Mary Rosai, she has been with the company for over 25 years and loves to help others and make sure they are getting the right investment advice. Mary was very kind and gave me advice about her past golf experience and going to the University of Michigan and playing golf all 4 years. Her team is based in California and some of them are coming to Fort Worth. They loved the work they do with the First Tee of Fort Worth. She advised me to dream big and never let anyone stop me from reaching my goals.
